

COMMUNITY IMPACT REPORT

2025-2026

Second Helpings

A MESSAGE FROM CEO MONIKA MALA

Dear Friends,

I have always believed that the best work happens when we bring people to the table.

That is what I see when I look at Second Helpings.

I see volunteers showing up week after week to rescue good food. I see donors turning generosity into meals and opportunity. I see community partners who know their neighbors and make sure food gets where it is needed most. I see culinary students building skills, confidence, and a path toward a career. And I see a community that believes no one should have to wonder where their next meal is coming from.

I am deeply honored to join this community as CEO.

Together, we deliver more than 1.4 million meals each year, rescue more than 5 million pounds of food annually, and have prepared more than 1,100 adults for careers through our Culinary Job Training program. Those numbers are remarkable, but what matters most is what they represent: a meal on someone's table, an opportunity for a family, and a new path forward for someone looking for work.

We have set an ambitious goal to double our impact by 2031. I believe we can get there, but we will not do it alone.

My commitment is to listen, bring people to the table, and build the next chapter of Second Helpings with our community, not simply for our community. Because this work is about more than food. It is about dignity. Everyone deserves enough to eat, to be treated with dignity, and to have the opportunity to build a good life.

I am excited about what we can accomplish together. Let's get cooking.

With gratitude,

Monika Mala, Ph.D.
